

Time's Ticking. Let's Write!

An Australian author with a sense for danger comes to schools across Queensland and gives a helping hand to Aussies across the state. It's Jack Heath, the dangerous and thrilling author who will scare you with his writing

Creating over twenty books since he began his writing career, many of his "Minute" series of books caught the eye of most kids around the world. These books are influences for people who enjoy writing for fun and excitement, not just for money. It is just for the thrill and to see if you can scare yourself with your own writing.

Jack Heath's live online workshop was a chance for young writers to ask questions and get ideas for future stories to come. This opportunity helped kids to get a clear understanding of life as a writer and to be in the footsteps of a successful author.

One of the activities we could do with Heath was to create a short seven minute story and we had chances to share our thoughts with his expert knowledge at the end of the session. This online workshop prepared us to keep writing and encourage others to succeed and strive for these opportunities.

By Saskia 60

